How were UX issues evaluated?

Issues are categorized by type, scored for severity, briefly described, and numbered for easy searching in the future.

For 2 months, I worked as the sole Researcher on the UX evaluation of an e-commerce website. During this time, I identified 35 usability problems, gave a severity score for each one, and proposed one or more solutions.

UX evaluation method

Heuristic Evaluation

The interface elements are compared to a list of predefined principles (called heuristics). Possible UX issues are identified where these principles are not met.

Participant Observation

The user is asked to navigate the e-commerce website and to complete certain actions. During the observation the need to comment on everything they see, feel, and understand.

Example 1

3.13 #CONTENT

Different words are used for the same action. Choose one and always use the same one to refer to the action

Score 1

3.14 #NAVEGACIÓN & IA

When you click Delete, it immediately removes the address. In these cases it's rerecommended to give a confirm or undo option, in case the user changes his mind or clicked by mistake.

Score 2

3.15 #CONTENT

The word "Update" is rarely used. It's more common to have "Edit", especially when it comes the the edit icon.

Puntaje 1

3.16 #NAVEGACIÓN & IA

The text format inside de address card makes it very hard to read fast. It could work better having less lines.

Possible solution

- Title and breadcrumb change to be consistent.
- "Create new" becomes and item card.
- Addresses are structured on fewer lines.
- Text "update" changes to "edit".
- Confirm before deleting or three seconds to undo when deleting.
- Change background color to go with the rest of the website

Example 2

3.22

#VISUAL DESIGN

The tone of green and the secondary CTA are not part of the UI Kit.

Score 2

#NAVEGACIÓN & IA

The table's format is understandable, but there's more information that the user wants to see here.. For example the products within the order, some direct button for message, returns and refunds

Score 2

3.24

#CONTENT

The page title is not consistent with the breadcrumb shown above it.

Score 1

3.25

#VISUAL DESIGN

Most columns are aligned to the left, but one is aligned to the right

Score 1

- Title and breadcrumb change to be consistent.
- Orders are displayed on a grid, with boxes containing the order reference, status, date, product and vendor, total and payment.
- New buttons for message and details.
- Once the order is delivered, you can add stars here to rate the seller.
- Change background color to go with the rest of the website
